

A journal you are eligible to publish in under an agreement:

The screenshot shows a search interface with a sidebar on the left containing filters for Subject Areas (Earth and Planetary Sciences, Social Sciences) and Journal Lists (Journals with Agreements). The main content area shows a search result for 'Geografisk Tidsskrift-Danish Journal of Geography' by Routledge. A red arrow points to the 'Select Institution' dropdown menu, which is set to 'Herlev Hospital', with a note: 'Remember to select your institution'. Another red arrow points to a grey box titled 'Institutional Agreement' which contains details about a five-year agreement with Taylor & Francis for the period 2024 to 2028, including APC waiver information and a limited quota. A third red arrow points to this grey box with the text: 'This grey box with the heading Institutional Agreement means that an agreement exists'.

A journal you are not eligible to publish in under an agreement:

The screenshot shows a search interface with a sidebar on the left containing filters for Subject Areas (Biochemistry, Genetics and Molecular Biology) and Journal Lists (Cell Press). The main content area shows a search result for 'Cell Metabolism' by Cell Press. A red arrow points to the 'Select Institution' dropdown menu, which is set to 'Herlev Hospital'. A red dashed box highlights the area where an institutional agreement would normally be displayed, but it is empty. A red arrow points to this empty area with the text: 'If there is no grey box with the heading Institutional Agreement, it means that no agreement exists for your institution'.